

Hope Edwards, LCSW
Counselor

Hope Edwards is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. She earned a Bachelor of Science in Human Services and Management from the University of Phoenix and a Master's degree in Social Work from the University of Oklahoma.

Hope works predominantly with children and their families as well as adults and elderly who are challenged with trauma, anxiety, depression, and other mental health issues.

Hope's life story was published in the International Handbook of Adolescent Pregnancy in 2014, sharing her challenges and triumphs as a teenage mother. She later became a volunteer for Martha's Foundation (a transitional housing program for pregnant and parenting teenagers) in 2016 where she also serves as a Board Member.
